TAG Approved's LGBTQ-Welcoming "Best Practices" Qualification

In order to participate in the TAG-Approved® accommodations program, your property must meet the following six LGBTQ-welcoming qualifications. (Note: If you have questions about meeting the qualifications, please email David Paisley at david@communitymarketinginc.com.)

1) Non-discrimination Policy

TAG Approved accommodations program members must have a non-discrimination policy that includes sexual orientation and gender identity. Alternatively, it is acceptable to have policies that state that the business follows local laws when doing business in a region that has sexual orientation and gender identity non-discrimination protection laws in place.

2) Equal Administration of Personnel Benefits

TAG Approved accommodations members must treat opposite-sex couples and same-sex couples equally. Marriage equality in many countries has helped equalize personnel benefits for all couples. However, some hotels may operate in countries without marriage equality. In these cases TAG requires personnel policies that include Domestic Partner benefits. TAG Approved recognizes that many small properties have few to no employee benefits. This policy enforces the equality of the benefits, not the extent of the benefits.

3) Diversity/Sensitivity Training

All TAG Approved accommodations members must provide LGBT-specific diversity training to their employees. This training may be part of the diversity training offered by the hotel, or hotels may develop classes specific to LGBT concerns. TAG Approved provides regular webinars on how to develop diversity training in your hotel. It is acceptable to register for TAG Approved if you agree to take TAG Approved's diversity webinar and implement diversity training in your hotel within six months of registering. This training is also available to members as a downloadable file for replay at any time.

4) TAG Approved as a "Watchdog"

By becoming a TAG Approved accommodation member, property management acknowledges that both their customers and employees may become "watchdogs" of their LGBT-related business practices. TAG Approved encourages both hotel employees and customers to contact TAG Approved to report if the property does not follow required policies. TAG Approved follows up on all complaints, and we expect the property to adequately address and resolve the issues presented. If TAG Approved determines that the complaint is not being adequately addressed, or that the property does not meet TAG Approved's Best Practices qualifications, the property will be terminated as a TAG Approved member and the company must agree to immediately cease using TAG Approved identification on promotional materials.

5) Community Support Policy

TAG Approved hotels must support their local communities through cash, gift certificate or in-kind contributions to local non-profits. TAG Approved strongly recommends that you include organizations that support the LGBT, HIV or women's communities.

6) Significant Harm Policy

TAG Approved recognizes that no hotel or hotel brand can police every owner, investor, manager, and employee. Unfortunately, situations can occur where a hotel meets the above qualifications, but an individual connected to the hotel does significant harm to LGBT equality. TAG Approved reserves the right to terminate membership should these situations occur and if the hotel does not adequately address the concern.
